Ordinance 2023-10 - Amending Title 17 Zoning; Chapters 17.44, 17.68, 17.84 and 17.116 related to Electronic Reader Board Signs – First Reading
Assistant Director of Community Development Emily Shively provided a presentation. Staff received requests in three areas for changing the code (increased utilization of technology where existing electronic signs are permitted, allowing non-residential uses in residential zoning districts to have electronic signs, changing existing billboards to digital). She explained that the purpose of the sign regulations. Shively said Plan Commission had discussions in April. The Plan Commission was open to modernizing the code to allow for greater use of technology and conversation of billboards to electronic signs. Shively detailed the proposed ordinance amendment. She said Plan Commission reviewed it on June 6, and forwarded it to the council with a favorable recommendation.

At 6:51 p.m., the mayor moved into a public hearing and asked for comments.

David Curtin, Lamar Advertising – he had amendments he wanted council to consider. In Section 3 Item 6, it allows one sign per lot. He would like back-to-back signs. In Item 8, he wanted clarification for monument signs on whether it was on or off premises. Sections 9-12 deal with the way messages are displayed. He would like a six second run time added. Item 16, Part B, he wasn’t in favor of removing one static sign to modernize another.

Alderman Morrissette asked if this was communicated to staff. Curtin was told to bring it council. Mayor Toland said he was at the Plan Commission. They have looked at it.
With no other comments, the mayor moved into Open Session at 6:54 p.m. Alderperson Bjork asked about signs being a mile apart. The mayor said it's referring to the billboards. The mayor asked Emily Shively to speak. Simpson asked Shively to address on premises versus off premise.

Shively said on premise means that you’re advertising about the business that the sign is associated with on the site. Billboards aren’t associated with any business. They are advertising other businesses. They are advertising for businesses that are not on those premises – so off premise. Billboards always fall into the off-premises category. The distance requirement of a mile only relates to digital billboards. Shively explained the process for digital billboards.

MS Odeen/Bjerstedt move to approve the remainder of the consent agenda. The mayor asked for a roll call vote. It passed unanimously.

Resolution No. 6801 - Amending Fee Schedule for Streetlight Special Charge
Alderperson Downing is in favor of the resolution. He thanked the planning staff and everyone who worked on it. He said the streetlight utility saves money that adds up and keeps life affordable for the community. Currently, the average homeowner pays $39 per year for streetlights. With changing to the streetlight utility, the average homeowner will pay $24 per year. The streetlight costs can be responsibly distributed in doing a streetlight utility.

Alderperson Bjork agreed with Downing but doesn’t think the breakdown is correct. He thinks the commercial and industrial customers are getting off easy. He thinks it should be increased. Bjork did quick math and can still come up to $234,000 is needed. Bjork thinks it should be $1.50 per unit (residential) and commercial and industrial should be 12 and 18 units and parks and schools should go to 20 units each. When you do the math, it still ends up to $234,000. He said that commercial and industrial are getting by too light. They should pay for more of a burden than that.

Bjork would like to amend the dollar amounts but he acknowledged that no other councilors have seen it so no one would be able to second it. The mayor confirmed that the council will see the rates yearly.

City Administrator Simpson said yes. He suggested that if council has concerns about the distribution of the REUs or the equivalents or the distribution between residential, commercial, industrial and schools, that they not proceed. The council has wide ability to modify this. Councilmember Bjork could amend the REUs shown in the resolution. Simpson cautioned that under state statute, the city must reasonably relate the charges of our services to the benefacting party. Staff has provided an estimate based on a number of assumptions. If council doesn’t think it looks correct from a policy standpoint, they should send it back to staff for further review rather than to modify it. Council has the ability - if Bjork gets a second on an amendment to modify it, but that puts staff in the position to go back and reverse analysis to make sure it is justified, and that we don’t have to come back to you because it doesn’t match the fees. Simpson spoke further. He suggested to accept it with the analysis or suggest that staff’s analysis needs to be revisited.

Bjork apologized to council as he was just doing the math. He talked about the commercial. Bjork moved to pull the item for re-evaluation and share it at the next council meeting. There was not a second. Bjork said there was a policy that if staff recommends it, then that becomes gospel.

Odeen disagreed. Council has extensively talked about the streetlight special charge. It is an increase in charges to businesses and industries. They will already see an increase in what they are charged. She thinks if it is not fair, council can tweak it in the future as part of the fee schedule.

Morrissette agreed. Council has have seen this at a couple of different workshops and that was our chance to amend it or change it was at that time. Staff took the direction we gave them to move forward after what came out of those workshops and that’s what has been presented.

Mayor Toland said there was no second for Bjork’s comment. He asked if anyone else had a comment. Downing said the point we have to value is that we can relook at this every year and be fair to everybody. He valued what Bjork had to say.

With no other comments, the mayor asked for a roll call vote. The roll call vote passed unanimously.
